

Chaweng Fishparty

Every evening around 11 p.m. the cats in Chaweng are served freshly cooked fish. For the cats this is the highlight of the evening and the disquietness rises the later it gets. We receive the fish very cheap from the biggest fish trader on the island. It is cheaper than canned food und when it's not the freshest anymore we can get a huge amount for an excellent price.

All the cats are going together, like they are making a group and just waiting and waiting for the fish party for two hours.

Still waiting....

Finally it starts...

We are not just waiting for the fish; we are also waiting for the medical treatment in a nice row.

Warten ist langweilig, da spielen wir erst mal ein wenig....

If we don't have any other chooses we drink dog milk too....

Das Frühstück ist natürlich auch immer sehr lecker.

