Dear Animal friends

September 2020

Dog Poisoning Continues In Spite Of Official Law Against Animal Cruelty

10 dogs were poisoned at WAT KHONGKARAM, only 3 survived. The monks went on their food-collecting tour early in the morning. When they returned they found the dogs writhing in convulsions at the temple. The monks tried everything to save the dogs. They gave them charcoal tablets, which are always the first aid measure, but unfortunately they only managed to save 3 of the dogs. Animal friends should always have charcoal tablets in the house. This is the first measure in case of poisoning. Give the dog about 20 pieces dissolved with water. Then take him to the vet as soon as possible.

Dogs have also been poisoned in many other places on the island in recent days. Especially in the south of the island.

We spoke to the government and found that they had nothing to do with the poisoning on the island. Please open your eyes and watch what your neighbor is doing.

Please get in touch if you want to help distribute flyers. You can pick them up at our shelter in Baan Taling Ngam and also in Chaweng. We have produced flyers to inform the population on Koh Samui - in English and Thai - about the penalties for animal abusers. We offer 20 000 Baht to find the criminals who poisoned our dogs.
